

JOURNAL OF CITY LAW

Editorial for vol. 10-2 (2018)

The Journal of City Law, a journal classified by MEC / CAPES as Qualis A1, Law and registered in the Web of Science, is pleased to inform all its readers that the article of the Law Review of the City: Reynoso, Zulia Yanzadig Orozco . "What counts the Tijuana Ranch? From its foundation and beyond" published in our Journal of City Law vol. 8, no. 4 (2016): 1516-1542. doi: 10.12957 / rdc.2016.26031. [Web of Science ®], [Google Scholar] was quoted as a bibliography of the article of the Comparative perspectives on drug wars section of THIRD WORLD QUARTERLY vol. 39, 2018 - Issue 2: Drugs, politics and society in the Global South, article titled: Fighting crime and maintaining order: shared worldviews of civilian and military elites in Brazil and Mexico.

We publish in this issue the article "Note sulla riforma del libro III del Codice Civile francese: multo rumore per nulla" by Professor Francesca Benatti, Professor of Comparative Private Law at Università degli Studi di Padova - Italy. PhD in Private Law Compared by the Università degli Studi di Pavia.

This article "Note sulla riforma del libro III del Codice Civile francese: multo rumore per nulla" This article deals with the reform of book III of the French Civil Code. This reform, although widely and for a long time discussed, is not and did not want to be revolutionary. It must be seen in the context of the European debate on the unification of contract law, which also provides a key to the interpretation of the reform. The values of the bourgeoisie replaced the protection of the weaker subject, the citizen becomes a consumer, the autonomy of the individuals is blurred by solidarity, the code as an expression of a state order must face the challenges of globalization, the political profile of the bourgeoisie and multinationals, which change the role of the state itself. Europe, through its regulations and directives, imposes its private law, often with indifferent indifference to the traditions of the countries to which its directives are strongly bureaucratized, while at the same time discussing its "democratic deficit." Perhaps reform could do no more than simplify and modernize. As argued in the article, it is not easy to predict whether the new rules will have the strength to resist changes already outlined or whether they will be temporary rules of limited duration, as is the fashion of these times, waiting for a horizon that is not seen, or better, that today we are not able to see what it will be.

As in the previously published issues, in the present volume 10, number 02, we publish 23 (twenty-three) unpublished articles, with 06 articles by foreign professors: the abovementioned "Note sulla riforma del libro III del Codice Civile francese: multo rumore per nulla" by Professor Francesca Benatti, Professor of Comparative Private Law of the Università degli Studi di Padova - Italy. PhD in Private Compared Law by the Università degli Studi di Pavia; "Noise in metropolitan areas and urbanization of natural soils - housing promotion in the context of the latest reform of the 2017 German Federal Code on Urbanization" by Prof. Anja Bothe, PhD in Law from the Faculty of Law of the University of Hamburg, Germany and Professor at the Autonomous University of Lisbon and the Atlantic University of Barcarena, Portugal; "Institutionalization and organizational failure in Territorial Administrative Units in Ecatepec, Mexico" by Prof. Benjamin Méndez Bahena, PhD in Territorial Planning and Regional Development (University of Barcelona, Spain) and Researcher-Professor at the Center for Economic and Social Research (CIECAS) of the National Polytechnic Institute (IPN) in Mexico and Pablo Armando Cruz Hernández, Doctorate in Social Sciences and Humanities, in the area of Institutional Studies, Universidad Autónoma Metropolitana (UAM), Mexico; "The Right to the City as a Collective Frame. And Joaquín Andrés Benitez, doctoral student in the Urban Studies Program of the National University of General Sarmiento, Argentina, and doctoral fellow of the National Agency for Scientific and Technological Promotion ( ANPCyT) of the Argentine Republic and professor at the seminar "Urban Life and Social Production of Space: Differential Uses and Appropriations of the City" in the sociology degree at the University of Buenos Aires - UBA, Argentina; Yussef Becher, Ph.D. in Social Sciences - FLACSO, doctoral fellow at CONICET, research professor at UNSL - Argentina; and "Conservation and loss of possession: Re-reading of the disagreement between Savigny and Von Ihering." by María Florencia Pasquale, Lawyer. Dra. In Law and Social Sciences (UNC), Postdoctoral Fellow Conicet Experimental Center for Economic Housing, Argentina.

In our Section Essays we publish four (4) unpublished essays, two on fundamental rights: Migration, violence and retortion ", by Francisco Ramos de Farias, PhD in Clinical Psychology from the Getúlio Vargas Foundation and Coordinator and professor of the Graduate Program in Memory of the Federal University of the State of Rio de Janeiro - UNIRIO and Carlos Emilio Ibarra Montero, doctoral student in the Postgraduate Program in Social Memory of the Federal University of the State of Rio de Janeiro - UNIRIO and fellowship of the quality program of the National Council of Science and Technology - CONACYT, Mexico; and "Poverty, democracy and human development in the twenty-first century: the dialogical ethics of law in access to justice" by Afonso Soares Oliveira Sobrinho, Post-Doctor in Law by the Faculty of Law of the South of Minas Gerais and Doctor in Law by the Autonomous Faculty of Law of São Paulo - FADISP.

In this issue of the Journal we also broaden our staff of our reviewers / evaluators, with the inclusion of many professors from countless states of the country, as well as many foreign professors, from a total of more than 390 evaluators.

We also publish, for immediate reference to the readers, the links of the various national and international indexes of journals and periodicals where our Journal of City Law is indexed.

We thank, as always, all the readers, authors, evaluators and collaborators for the collaboration and trust and for the always excellent work done. We always remember that the submissions for the Law of the City Magazine are permanent and must be carried out by the system, directly on the Journal's page.

Good reading to all!

Mauricio Mota

Editor of the Journal of City Law